

Texas Public Libraries: Serving Communities to Enhance Digital Literacy
Survey Question and Responses

Curriculum

Responses from Library Directors

Learning Express Library through TexShare, YouTube
Universal Class for self directed. We create our own curriculum for our coursework
PLA Digital Learn, GCF Global, LinkedIn Learning, in-house
We create our own or use LinkedIn Learning or Niche Academy
YouTube--How To
Adapted TSLAC curriculum
Staff create their own. Online - Learning Express, LinkedIn Learning
Girls Who Code; Grow with Google;
Free online such as GCFLearn.org, Microsoft, Social Media site guides,
We have developed or borrowed the curriculums from other library systems and customized them for our library patrons.
North Star Digital Literacy Curriculum, staff created Digital Inclusion Certificate Program (self paced, in person with staff support)
ACC provides syllabus for their classes. Most of the one-to-one does not use a curriculum. The group classes follow in-house description and lessons.
Sometimes we Google a solution
GCFLearnfree.org;
Staff developed curriculum
We create our own.
We are considering NorthStar Digital Literacy

I refer patrons to this site if they want to learn on their own https://edu.gcfglobal.org/en/
InfoBase learning

Responses from Branch Managers

Microsoft Digital Literacy Course, Organizational-created and approved presentations, GCFLearnFree.org
Library created curriculums
For staff that feel more comfortable teaching one on one sessions with curriculum, I recommend Learning Express or https://edu.gcfglobal.org/en/
Curriculum supplied by volunteer teacher.
Self-created curriculum.
GCF Global, Digitallearn.org, NorthStar Digital Literacy, and a book called Welcome to Computers for ESL Students, by Lois Wooden.
We use staff knowledge for many platforms, but we also offer, as a take-away, library resources (LearningExpress, BrainFuse, Job & Career Accelerator) and free learning websites like Goodwill's Learn Site (GCFLearnFree.org) and others, so that persons can continue with their learning goals.
ACRL Framework
This year, we will begin using the NorthStar curriculum.
NorthStar
Our system is currently developing a curriculum based on NorthStar, and my understanding is that these classes should be live later this year.
Later this year we will be introducing the NorthStar curriculum.
One-on-one training is conducted by staff trained through City of Fort Worth training classes.
We will use NorthStar curriculum starting fall 2022.
We follow the lead of others who are experienced. As branch managers we find that curriculums are harder to follow. Patron skill set is limited.
TexShare DB - Computer skills center, Learning Express, GCF learnfree.org; and universal class
In house curriculum