

Get a Clue

---

Words and music by Lucas Miller

I know a woman of mysteries
Biographies, strange but true
She walks the pages of histories
Picture books and novels, too

Two-year olds and presidents
Depend upon her skills
She's an agent of the government
And she's licensed to thrill

If you seek adventure
She's got one just for you
She doesn't charge a dime
As long as you're not overdue,

*She's gonna tell you, "Get a clue!"
She's on the case for you
Gonna solve those summer blues
Get a clue, get a clue, get a clue
She's an agent that's always true
At a library near you
Get a clue, get a clue, get a clue*

Techno gizmos rule the day
Tweets and blog posts fill our screens
She can still light the way
With her barcode scanner's laser beam!

Audio-visual information
Coming in from all directions
You've got technological inclinations
She's your connection!

How to tell the false from true
When fact and fiction coexist?
She'll spill her secrets to you
If we keep her off the missing item list

*She's gonna tell you, "Get a clue!"
She's on the case for you
Gonna solve those summer blues
Get a clue, get a clue, get a clue
Find an agent that's always true
At a library near you
Get a clue, get a clue, get a clue*
