

THE PSYCHOTHERAPY.NET VIDEO STREAMING COLLECTIONS

Just launched April 2013, the Psychotherapy.net Video Collections feature the richest and most diverse collections of high quality training videos in the field of counseling, psychotherapy, and addiction. The majority of the videos show therapists actually conducting therapy and demonstrating clinical skills, along with pre and post session discussions. Most of the leading figures in the field are included in this collection, from legendary masters such as Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Rollo May, and Salvador Minuchin, to contemporary luminaries such as Irvin Yalom, Marsha Linehan, Sue Johnson, William Miller, Insoo Kim Berg, and Otto Kernberg. Videos can be accessed anytime and anywhere as long as users have an Internet connection. Free trials of our streaming collection are available to interested customers.

Our Streaming Collections feature:

- Diverse formats geared for a variety of teaching needs, including single-session demonstrations, multiple-session demonstrations, clinical case consultations, interviews, and documentary style films. Most use actual clients, although some are reenactments. Many videos include voiceover commentaries throughout sessions, increasing their instructional value.
- Videos presenting most major theoretical orientations, including cognitive-behavioral, psychoanalytic/psychodynamic, family systems, existential-humanistic, motivational interviewing, and many others.
- Most modalities, including individual therapy, group therapy, couples and family therapy, child therapy, art therapy, psychodrama and therapeutic communities.
- A wide representation of client populations.
- Most video titles include downloadable Instructor's Manual.
- Available in four collections: Essential Collection (50 titles), Expanded Collection (100 Titles), and Full Collection. Additionally, we are offering an Exclusive Collection, available only for libraries which currently have the Alexander Street Press collection Counseling in Therapy and Video Volume 1 (CTiV1), as CTiV1 many Psychotherapy.net titles. See more info in Cost section below.
- See lists of titles included in each collection in separate documents; plus the following videos will be added to Full and Exclusive Collections in the next several months:

6-video series on Acceptance and Commitment Therapy, featuring Steven Hayes, PhD

2 videos on Cognitive Therapy for OCD featuring Reid Wilson

Otto Kernberg conducting an evaluation with a personality disordered client.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

"An astounding collection of psychotherapy and counseling training videos presented on an easy-to-view streaming platform. There is no excuse for any serious training program not to subscribe to the Psychotherapy.net collection."

--Monica McGoldrick, LCSW, Professor of Psychiatry, Robert Wood Johnson Medical School; Author of Ethnicity and Family Therapy

"An absolutely incredible collection featuring the leading psychotherapists and counselors of our generation, combined with a state-of-the-art user-friendly interface. Theories are invaluable, but providing students the ability to see actual counseling taking place is necessary to ensure they master the required skills. I believe the Psychotherapy.net collection makes this major contribution to preparing the next generation of practitioners. I am convinced that all who use it will enhance their training outcomes for students."

--Sam Steen, PhD, Assistant Professor of Counseling, George Washington University
